1. Mission statement

The purpose of this policy is to define Truro and Penwith Academy Trust's (the Trust's) commitment to equality in everything that we do, in accordance with the Equality Act 2010 (EQA 2010).

The Trust is committed to equality in both its employment and education provision. We aim to ensure that students, parents, governors, employees, contractors, directors, clients and those who may potentially join the Trust community are treated fairly and with dignity and respect.

The Trust will ensure that no one is discriminated against on the basis of the protected characteristics as set out the EQA 2010. These are:

- age
- disability
- gender reassignment
- marriage and civil partnership
- pregnancy and maternity
- race
- religion or belief
- sex
- sexual orientation

In addition, the Trust recognises that the duty is an anticipatory duty and will actively consider where someone may not have a formal diagnosis of a disability but may potentially be disabled under the Equality Act 2010. This will include, for example, special educational needs (SEN). Even where there is not a specific protected characteristic under the EQA 2010, the Trust will ensure that everyone is treated with dignity and respect and not disadvantage someone for any other unlawful reason (for example because a person has made a protected disclosure). This policy should therefore be read in accordance with other policies.

The EQA 2010 defines specific types of discrimination by reference to direct discrimination, indirect discrimination, discrimination by association, victimisation, harassment and discrimination arising from disability. The Trust will always seek to be inclusive and avoid and appropriately address any forms of discrimination.

Public Sector Equality Duty

The Trust will further (in accordance with the public sector Equality Duty under the EQA 2010) work in a way to seek to:

- Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and other conduct that is prohibited by the Equality Act.
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
- Foster good relations across all protected characteristics between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.

In addition to our duties under the EQA 2010 the Trust will further promote inclusion by taking into account factors such as SEN and Free School Meals (FSM).

We will tackle discrimination by the positive promotion of equality, challenging bullying and stereotypes and creating an environment which champions respect for all. We believe that diversity is a strength, which should be respected and celebrated by all those who learn, teach and visit here.

Links with other policies:

This policy and its ethos applies to every policy, procedure and guidance documents that is produced in relation to students, staff, parents and governance. The following policies are particularly relevant to achieving the objectives of this policy.

- SEND Policy
- Admissions Policy
- Anti-bullying and Anti-discrimination Policy
- Behaviour for Learning Policy
- Managing Medical Conditions Policy
- Recruitment and Selection Policy
- All other employment policies

Our commitment covers equality on grounds of all protected characteristics listed above. We expect all our trustees, staff and local governing body members to put in place our commitment and organisation's values by:

- Ensuring a high standard of behaviour, we will ensure that the school's procedures for disciplining pupils and managing behaviour are fair, effective and equitable
- Responding quickly to complaints and incidents in a positive and pro-active way
- Providing equality of access to services, facilities and information
- Ensuring that all people who work or volunteer in the school are able to apply and participate in opportunities and that no one is at a disadvantage because of a protected characteristic.. We believe that this will provide good role models for pupils from all backgrounds.
- Promoting activities that celebrate our common experience as well as those that recognise diversity and foster understanding and respect for the culture and faith of all our learners and their families
- Where possible planning to meet the specific needs of individual pupils within the recognised protected characteristics and to be inclusive generally.

2. Mainstreaming equality into policy and practice

As well as the specific actions set out beneath this plan, the school operates equality of opportunity in its day to day practice in the following ways.

Teaching and learning

We aim to provide all our pupils with the opportunity to succeed and to reach the highest level of personal achievement. To do this, we will:

- Use contextual data to improve the ways in which we provide support to individuals and groups of pupils;
- Monitor achievement data of all groups and respond to any gaps with appropriate targeted interventions;
- Take account of the enjoyment and achievement of all pupils when planning for future learning and setting challenging targets;
- Ensure equality of access for all pupils and prepare them for life in a diverse society;
- Use materials that reflect the diversity of the school, population and local community and relevant protected characteristics.
- Promote attitudes and values that will challenge discriminatory behaviour or prejudice;
- Provide opportunities for pupils to appreciate their own culture and celebrate the diversity of other cultures within the context of the five British values (Parents have the right to withdraw their child from certain aspects of this);
- Teach and show tolerance of and empathy for others;
- Ensure children understand that they have a voice and contribute to our school, local, national and global communities;
- Seek to involve all parents in supporting their child's education;
- Encourage classroom and staffroom discussion of equality issues which reflect on social stereotypes, expectations and the impact on learning;
- Utilise teaching and classroom-based approaches appropriate for the whole school population, which are inclusive and reflective of our pupils.

Admissions and exclusions

Our admissions arrangements are fair and transparent and do not discriminate on the grounds of any of the protective characteristics listed above and are consistent with the Schools Admissions Code.

Exclusions will always be based on the school's Behaviour Policy and sanctions and consequences. We will closely monitor exclusions to avoid any potential adverse impact and ensure any discrepancies are identified and dealt with. We will ensure that we follow the statutory exclusions guidance.

3. Equal Opportunities for Staff

This section deals with aspects of equal opportunities relating to staff at Truro and Penwith Academy Trust. We are committed to the implementation of equal opportunities principles and the monitoring and active promotion of equality in all aspects of staffing and employment. All staff appointments and promotions are made on the basis of merit and ability and in compliance with the law.

Employer duties

As an employer we need to ensure that we eliminate discrimination and harassment in our employment practice and actively promote equality across all groups within our workforce. This means that our practice in recruitment and career development will be inclusive. Decisions to do with career opportunities such as Teaching and Learning Responsibilities (TLR) or re-evaluating staff structures, to ensure decisions will be open to all.

Actions to ensure this commitment is met include:

- Monitoring recruitment and retention
- Continued professional development opportunities for all staff;
- Performance Management support to ensure equality of opportunity for all.

- Promoting good practice in employment by making staff aware of relevant policies and adapting them to take into account protected characteristics.

Ensuring that staff understand and respect different protected characteristics and understand what is appropriate in the work place. For example, answering questions from students appropriately on sensitive topics and expressing any opinions in the workplace sensitively and appropriately.

5. Tackling discrimination

The Act defines four kinds of unlawful behaviour – direct discrimination; indirect discrimination; harassment and victimisation. See Appendix 2 for glossary of terms

Discriminatory incidents

Discrimination can take many forms, including the following examples:

- Physical assault against a person or group because of their colour, ethnicity, nationality, disability, sexual orientation or gender or other protected characteristic;
- Use of derogatory names, insults and jokes;
- Racist, sexist, homophobic or discriminatory graffiti;
- Provocative behaviour such as wearing racist, sexist, homophobic or discriminatory badges or insignia;
- Bringing discriminatory material into school;
- Verbal abuse and threats;
- Incitement of others to discriminate or bully due to victim's race, disability, gender or sexual orientation;
- Discriminatory comments in the course of discussion;
- Attempts to recruit others to discriminatory organisations and groups;
- Ridicule of an individual for difference e.g. food, music, religion, dress etc; and
- Refusal to co-operate with other people on grounds of race, gender, disability or sexual orientation.

The Trust will take into account the perception of the victim when making any decisions under the policy.

Responding to and reporting incidents

At Truro and Penwith Academy Trust we believe that dealing with discriminatory incidents is vital to the ethos of the school and well-being of all its members. There are clear recording and reporting incidents within school and reports are communicated to TPAT as appropriate.

7. Monitoring and Evaluation

The Policy and Plan has been agreed by our Trust Board of Directors and the Local Governing Body at Helston Community College. At Truro and Penwith Academy Trust, we have a rolling programme for reviewing our Trust policies and their impact. We will review the Policy and Plan on a 4 year cycle. We will also review progress towards the Plan annually in line with the School Development Plan.

Appendix 2 Glossary of Terms

- Direct discrimination occurs when one person treats another less favourably, because of a protected characteristic, than they treat – or would treat – other people. This describes the most clear-cut and obvious examples of discrimination – for example if a school were to refuse to let a pupil be a house captain because she has a physical disability.
- Indirect discrimination occurs when a “provision, criterion or practice” is applied generally but has the effect of putting people with a particular characteristic at a disadvantage when compared to people without that characteristic. An example might be holding a parents’ meeting on a Friday evening, which could make it difficult for observant Jewish parents to attend. It is a defence against a claim of indirect discrimination if it can be shown to be “a proportionate means of achieving a legitimate aim”. This means both that the reason for the rule or practice is legitimate, and that it could not reasonably be achieved in a different way which did not discriminate.
- Harassment has a specific legal definition in the Act - it is “unwanted conduct, related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating a person’s dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person”. This covers unpleasant and bullying behaviour, but potentially extends also to actions which, whether intentionally or unintentionally, cause offence to a person because of a protected characteristic.
- Victimisation occurs when a person is treated less favourably than they otherwise would have been because of something they have done (“a protected act”) in connection with the Act. A protected act might involve, for example, making an allegation of discrimination or bringing a case under the Act, or supporting another person’s complaint by giving evidence or information, but it includes anything that is done under or in connection with the Act. Even if what a person did or said was incorrect or misconceived, for example based on a misunderstanding of the situation or of what the law provides, they are protected against retaliation unless they were acting in bad faith. The reason for this is to ensure that people are not afraid to raise genuine concerns about discrimination because of fear of retaliation.

Harassment on account of race, gender, disability or sexual orientation is unacceptable and is not tolerated within the school environment.

All staff are expected to deal with any discriminatory incidents that may occur. They are expected to know how to identify and challenge prejudice and stereotyping; and to support the full range of diverse needs according to a pupil’s individual circumstances.

Racist and homophobic incidents and other incidents of harassment or bullying are dealt with by the member of staff present, escalating to a class teacher / Headteacher where necessary. All incidents are reported to the Headteacher and racist incidents are reported to the governing body and local authority on a half termly basis.
